NATIONAL PARKS AND WILDLIFE ACT 1974

Declaration of an Aboriginal Place Pursuant to Section 84

Wollumbin Aboriginal Place
Murwillumbah

PURSUANT to section 84 of the National Parks and Wildlife Act 1974, I, the Minister for the Environment, being of the opinion that the place known as Wollumbin is, and was, of special significance to Aboriginal culture, declare the lands, described in Schedule "A" as an Aboriginal Place.

The value for which the Aboriginal Place is significant to Aboriginal culture includes, but is not limited to, it being considered an extremely important part of the Aboriginal cultural landscape.

Mount Warning's cultural name is Wollumbin or more correctly pronounced (Wool-oom-bin), of which there are many references and variations of spelling. The contemporary name is generally applied to the whole mountain and some of the adjacent surrounding topographic features. From the information collected, it is probable that this was not always the case because of the many different stories about the mountain and places associated with it. For example, Wollumbin is said to also be the name of a mythological warrior, fighting chief of the mountains, whose human form can be seen from Eungella (a town located on the north eastern side of the mountain) as a silhouette outline of peaks and ridges stretching in the direction of Tyalgum.

From the vantage point of Kelly's Road, near Eungella, the mountain can also be seen as a Brush Turkey (Wogan) surrounded by its nest. These descriptions complement two of the cultural stories. Furthermore, the summit of the mountain has a separate cultural name associated with the Bundjalung belief story of their origin, The Three Brothers. Use of the name is regarded as culturally confidential and may have only been known and used by traditional Aboriginal people who had attained a certain level of initiation.

Research gathered for this project suggests there are at least eight separate stories about the mountain and its cultural meaning. Each story is equally valid; with no one story taking precedence. It is culturally appropriate to accept all stories and therefore the interpretation and meaning provided in each story is the prerogative of the story teller, and is also dependant on the acceptance and beliefs of the listener.

It is also evident that the different stories are connected to the various Aboriginal communities that can see the mountain from their particular locality. In other words, the mountain was (and remains) so culturally significant that Aboriginal people of the region included beliefs and recognition of the mountain in their day to day activities, despite their distance and supposed disconnectedness with it.

It is understood that speaking the summit's name must follow a certain cultural protocol, and that the name is also embodied in another cultural story of the mountain which links the place to other locations across the region. This is an example of the complexity of Aboriginal belief and the fact that cultural knowledge was (and remains) multi-layered in Aboriginal society.

It is evident that some people have strong views about the cultural name of the mountain and how it is applied, but it is also clear that most people with cultural knowledge accept that Wollumbin is the appropriate cultural identification for the mountain.

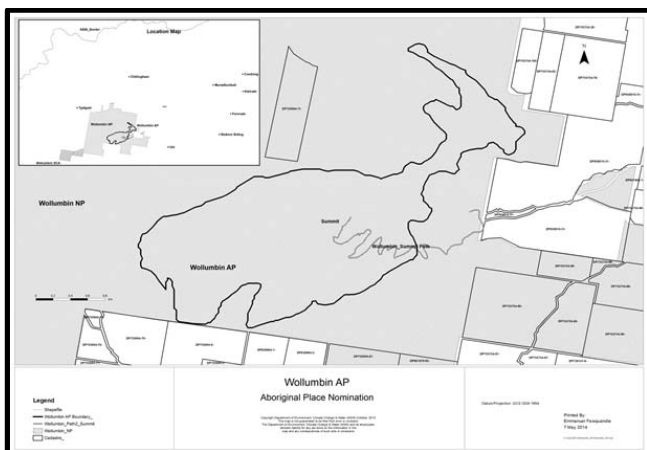

Signed at Sydney, this 27th day of June 2014.

The Hon. ROB STOKES, M.P.,
Minister for the Environment

At a conference, the offender and the victim or victims of the offence are brought together with a Forum Facilitator to develop an intervention plan for the offender.

- (c) The eligibility criteria along with the aims of the program are set out in Part 7 of the Criminal Procedure Regulation 2010.

13.2 Referrals to Forum Sentencing

- (a) Offenders charged with certain offences are excluded from eligibility to be referred for participation in the Forum Sentencing Program. A list of excluded offences is set out in clause 55 (2), Criminal Procedure Regulation 2010.
- (b) The Court may make a referral either on application by the offender or their representative, by a prosecutor, or on its own motion.
- (c) If eligible to participate, court proceedings are to be adjourned for up to 2 weeks for Forum Sentencing staff (the Operations Team and the Forum Facilitator) to conduct a suitability assessment.
- (d) During the adjourned period, an assessment of the appropriateness of the offender's case being dealt with under the program is to be carried out. A locally based Forum Facilitator will assess the offender's suitability while an Operations Team employee will assess the case and contact the victim/s to ascertain their willingness to participate.
- (e) Case suitability takes into account offender suitability, victim participation and the appropriateness of the case being dealt with under the program. A suitability assessment report is to be provided to the Court that indicates whether the case meets the following requirements:
 - (i) The offender's case has been assessed as appropriate for being dealt with under the program; and
 - (ii) The offender has been assessed as being suitable for participation in the program; and
 - (iii) At least one victim wishes to participate or to have his or her nominated representative participate, in a conference.

13.3 Conference participation order

- (a) If assessed as suitable, the Magistrate will consider placement of the offender into the program and may make a conference participation order. Both the offender and the prosecutor may be heard. If not considered suitable, the matter will proceed through the ordinary court process.
- (b) The Court will adjourn the matter for no longer than 8 weeks in order for the conference to be conducted.
- (c) During the adjournment period, a Forum Facilitator will conduct a conference in respect of the offender to whom the order applies.
- (d) Following initial management of case suitability by an Operations Team employee, a Forum Facilitator is to advise any participating victim/s or offender/s of their right to participate in the conference.

- (e) The Court is to be notified and the offender's case is to be returned to the Court to be dealt with in accordance with the ordinary court process if, before a conference is held:
- (i) The offender becomes unsuitable to participate in the program;
 - (ii) All victim/s withdraw their consent to participate or have their nominated representative participate in a conference; or
 - (iii) The offender's case otherwise becomes inappropriate for being dealt with under the program.

13.4 Intervention plans

- (a) On the adjournment date, the Court is to receive a draft intervention plan and a supporting forum report.
- (b) A draft intervention plan arising from the conference is based on recommendations made and agreed to by victim/s and offender/s and the majority of other participants at the conference. The draft intervention plan is to include any further action required on behalf of the offender.
- (c) A forum report sets out any recommendations not included in the draft intervention plan, including any recommendation to the Court that a compensation order be made and/or details of financial reparations or a donation that the offender has agreed to make. The report is to advise the Court if participants were unable to agree on an intervention plan or if victim/s and/or offender/s exercised their right to veto recommendations.
- (d) If the Court approves the draft intervention plan, an intervention plan order is made.
- (e) The Forum Facilitator is to establish the offender's commencement of an approved intervention plan, then transfer supervision to an Operations Team employee. Monitoring, supervision and reporting on intervention plans is the responsibility of the Operations Team and may also be shared with Community Corrections. The forum report and draft intervention plan is to make recommendations in relation to supervision where appropriate.
- (f) The Court may refer the intervention plan back to the Operations Team for consultation or amendment. Amendments must be approved by the victim/s and offender/s or they will not be made. If approved, the Operations Team will revise the intervention plan and report back to the Court if practicable within seven days.
- (g) No more than one referral to revise the intervention plan will be made. If the plan is not approved and a revised plan is not approved, sentencing will proceed in the ordinary manner.

13.5 Sentencing

- (a) Following approval of the Intervention Plan the Court may exercise the following sentencing options:
 - (i) Make a further order adjourning the proceedings pursuant to s 11 (1) (b2) of the Crimes Sentencing Procedure Act 1999 ('CSP Act'); or
 - (ii) Proceed to sentence pursuant to ss 9, 10, or 12 of the CSP Act. Section 95A of the CSP Act may apply to sentences imposed under these provisions.
- (b) If the Court proceeds to sentence in accordance with paragraph 9 (b) (ii) and imposes a good behaviour bond, any recommendation in the forum report and relevant form for the making of financial reparations or a donation by the offender is not to be included as a condition of the good behaviour bond.
- (c) The Court may make a compensation order in accordance with any recommendations contained in the forum report.
- (d) Successful completion of the Forum Sentencing program is a matter that may be taken into account by the Court upon sentence.
- (e) Where the Court makes an order in which an approved intervention plan is part of the sentence, the Court will specify where relevant:
 - (i) Any supervision required as part of the sentence other than that undertaken by the Operations Team. An order may be supervised by the Operations Team, Community Corrections, or both; and
 - (ii) The time limits within which parts of the intervention plan are to be completed.

13.6 After sentencing

- (a) The Court is to be advised by the supervising Operations Team employee or other supervising party when an offender does not complete, partially completes or satisfactorily completes an intervention plan.
- (b) In the event the Court is advised that the intervention plan has not been satisfactorily completed, the Court may:
 - (i) Take no action;
 - (ii) Issue a notice of call up; or
 - (iii) Issue a warrant.
- (c) If the intervention plan is part of a sentence supervised in part or solely by Community Corrections (for instance, a good behaviour bond), breach action by Community Corrections is to be dealt with in accordance with the usual process for that type of sentence.
