The values for which the Warre Warren Aboriginal Place has been assessed as being significant to Aboriginal culture include, but are not limited to, the high concentration of a unique range of complex site types. It contains a high density of Aboriginal pigment art sites, rare for the Sydney Basin, which has the potential for further scientific and archaeological research. It is a landscape of very high cultural value, composed of impressive geological sandstone formations containing unique Aboriginal pigment art sites. The area is used as a contemporary cultural learning space by Aboriginal communities.

NATIONAL PARKS AND WILDLIFE ACT 1974

Koorawatha Falls (Guuruwulha) Aboriginal Place

Pursuant to section 84 of the National Parks and Wildlife Act 1974, I, the Special Minister of State Minister for the Public Service and Employee Relations, Aboriginal Affairs, and the Arts being of the opinion that the place known as Koorawatha Falls (Guuruwulha) is, and was, of special significance to Aboriginal culture, declare the lands described in Schedule “A” as an Aboriginal place.

Koorawatha Falls (Guuruwulha) is located just east of the township of Koorawatha within the traditional lands of the Wiradjuri people. The falls and the deep plunge pool of the waterhole are set amidst steeply tilted sandstones and siltstones in Bang Bang Creek.

Guuruwulha is significant to local Wiradjuri people as it allows them to maintain their connection with country and practice cultural traditions and allows the transmission of Wiradjuri cultural knowledge and Lore which has been passed down through successive generations.

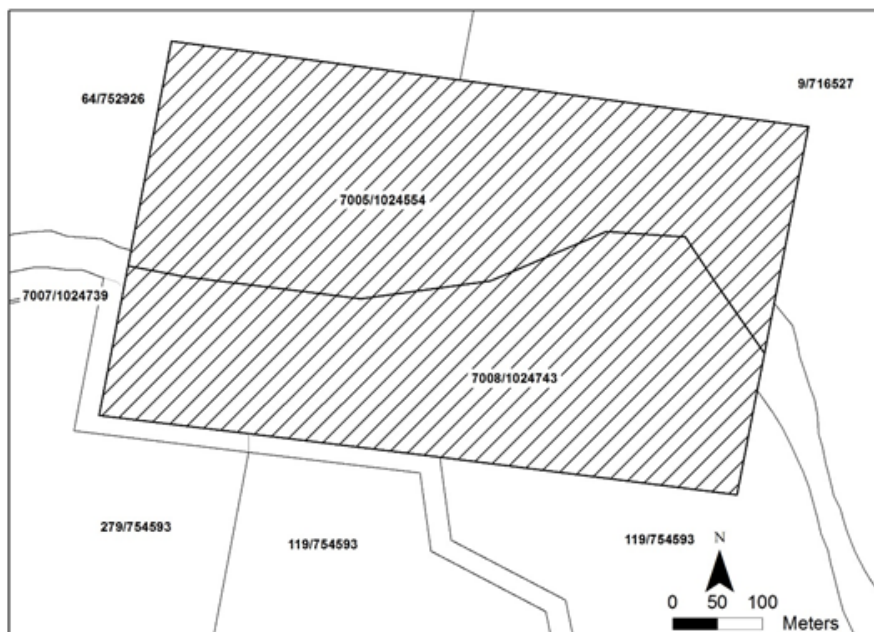

The details of the cultural significance of the area have deliberately been kept confidential however Wiradjuri people often associate natural deep-water features such as permanent springs and deep waterholes in rivers, creeks or lagoons with powerful spirits, most notably the Wawi (Rainbow Serpent). Guuruwulha, through traditional oral storytelling and its characteristic hydrological and geological features, tells the story of the Wawi – a local example of a nationally significant story that is repeated throughout New South Wales and more broadly across the Australian continent.

Environment Protection Authority

Declaration of significantly contaminated land

(Section 11 of the Contaminated Land Management Act 1997)

Declaration Number 20191102; Area Number 3425

The Environment Protection Authority (EPA) declares the following land to be significantly contaminated land under the Contaminated Land Management Act 1997 ("the Act"):

1. Land to which this declaration applies ("the site")

The land to which this declaration applies is part of 70 Maitland Street Branxton (part Lot 6 DP1106094 and Lot 3 DP213879) within Cessnock Local Government Area.

The land was formerly used as a service station. A map of the site is attached to this declaration.

2. Nature of contamination affecting the site

The EPA has found that the site is contaminated with the following substances ("the contaminants"):

- Petroleum hydrocarbons including Benzene, Toluene, Ethyl Benzene, Xylenes (BTEX), Naphthalene, Total Recoverable Hydrocarbons (TRH), Phase Separated Hydrocarbons (PSH) and Metals.

3. Nature of harm that the contaminants may cause

The EPA has considered the matters in section 12 of the Act and has reason to believe that the land is contaminated, and that the contamination is significant enough to warrant regulation under the Act due to the following:

- The residual phase separated hydrocarbons (PSH) and petroleum hydrocarbon impacted soil that was capped onsite, continues to be an ongoing source of contamination;
- Groundwater is contaminated with petroleum hydrocarbons at concentrations exceeding guidelines that are protective of human health and/or the environment;
- Dissolved phase hydrocarbons in groundwater are at concentrations indicative of PSH in wells located both onsite and offsite;
- There is a potential for commercial workers in the north eastern building onsite to be exposed to soil and groundwater contaminants via vapour intrusion;
- The extent of groundwater contamination has not been delineated and there is a potential for down gradient offsite receptors to be exposed to groundwater contaminants via vapour intrusion; and
- There is a potential for intrusive maintenance workers undertaking subsurface works onsite to come into contact with petroleum hydrocarbon contamination beneath the bitumen cap.

4. Further action under the Act

The making of this declaration does not prevent the carrying out of voluntary management of the site and any person may submit a voluntary management proposal for the site to the EPA.

5. Submissions invited

The public may make written submissions to the EPA on:

- Whether the EPA should issue a management order in relation to the site; or
- Any other matter concerning the site.

Submissions should be made in writing to:

Director Contaminated Land Management
Environment Protection Authority
PO Box A290
SYDNEY SOUTH NSW 1232

or

email: contaminated.sites@epa.nsw.gov.au

by not later than 9 August 2019.

NOTE:

Management order may follow

If management of the site or part of the site is required, the EPA may issue a management order under s.14 of the Act.

Amendment/Repeal

This declaration may be amended or repealed. It remains in force until it is otherwise amended or repealed. The subsequent declaration must state the reasons for the amendment or repeal (s.44 of the Act).

Information recorded by the EPA

Section 58 of the Act requires the EPA to maintain a public record. A copy of this significantly contaminated land declaration will be included in the public record.

Information recorded by councils

Section 59 of the Act requires the EPA to give a copy of this declaration to the relevant local council. The council is then required to note on its planning certificate issued pursuant to s10.7 of the Environmental Planning and Assessment Act 1979 that the land is declared significantly contaminated land. The EPA is required to notify council as soon as practicable when the declaration is no longer in force and the notation on the s10.7 certificate is no longer required.
